TO
MISS HELEN McNAUGHTON
for her loyalty and devotion to Pittsfield High School

Dedication

To our "Miss Mac"—

For her cheerfulness;

For her understanding;

For her patience;

For her willingness to give so much extra time to the students of Pittsfield High;

For the hours she has given to the Cadettes, the Girls'
Athletic Association, gym exhibitions and variety shows;

For her encouragement and support
of after-school activities;

For loyalty above and beyond the call of duty;

For all these qualities — the Class of 1959 dedicates this yearbook to Miss Helen McNaughton.

Who, me?

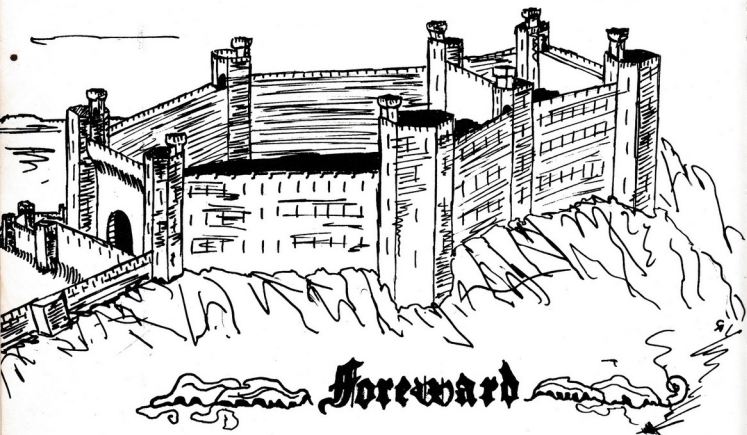

This is how you do it.

Come on, team!

Who wants to serve?

We, the class of 1959, have chosen for the theme of our yearbook the training and education of the medieval knight. From our study of medieval history and from the tales we read in Tennyson's Idylls of the King we have seen that the manners and customs of hundreds of years ago are not all so remote as they seem to be. Especially is this true in the young man's quest for knighthood. Like the young page, who timidly approached the domicile of the lord who would train him, so we with hesitation approached Pittsfield High School as Sophomores; as the squire looked with awe to the knights whom he served, so we as Juniors watched enviously the Seniors, eager to stand in their places; and as the "golden spurs" symbolized the goal to which every knight aspired, so the diploma is the symbol of achievement to every Senior. The competition of the tournament is mirrored on our athletic fields. The "Queens of Love and Beauty" reigned supreme at all our dances. Let this yearbook be our escutcheon emblazoned with pleasant memories.

ALMA MATER

Words by Esther Kierstead '38

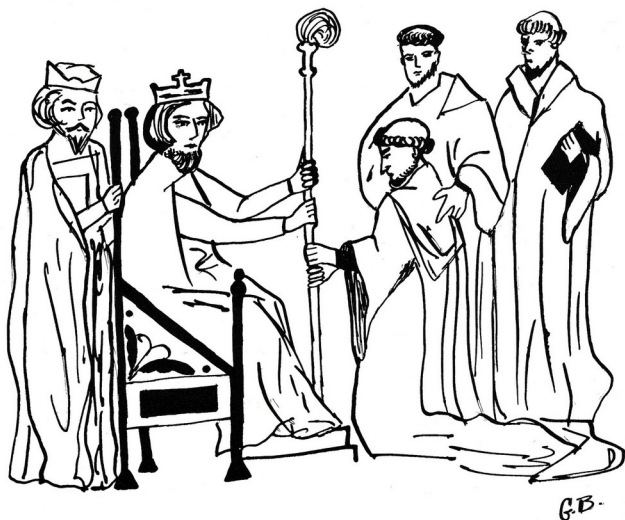

And Friend Kierstead '39

Tune: "All Through the Night"

Guardian elm trees cast their shadows
O'er thy ivied walls;
Sons and daughters ever loyal
Throng thy honored halls.
Pittsfield High School, Pittsfield High School,
Alma Mater dear,
Help us to preserve thy honor
Through each coming year.

Great has been thy former record,
Greater will it be
As the future generations
Sing their praise to thee.
Proud are we who through thy portals
Into life do pass;
Help us ever to be worthy,
Each and every class.

Bridge of Sighs

Hey there, got a match?

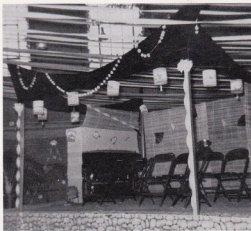

Junior Prom

In an exotic setting we enjoyed the reward for hours of planning and still more hours of work. This was our first adventure as a class, one we had strived to make a success.

Under the guidance of our co-chairmen, Julianne Polidoro and Bill Eramo, the Pittsfield High School gym was converted into a charming Japanese garden. Multi-colored lights shone on bamboo shades and stick wood trees. Japanese wallpaper and Japanese lettering, blotting out the drab gym walls, lent an oriental atmosphere.

Pondering the problems of the prom.

I hear music but there's no one there.

Fred, how did the ball get back there?

Best foot forward.

Under the windows on a background of navy blue, pink flowers, touched with silver, spelled out "Sayonara," our theme. Overhead were white, pink, and green streamers from which Japanese lanterns swung gently in the air. Through this maze of color a light cast a glow on our masterpiece, a flower covered Japanese bridge, beneath which flowed gleaming silver water.

Our Junior Prom is a wonderful memory. It was our "Sayonara" or "Japanese Goodby" to our Junior Year.

Manufacturing a tree???

Just what is he trying to say?

The waltz you saved for me.

Field Hockey is October's game,
When autumn's chill winds blow
And leaves of red and gold and rust

Rosy cheeked, the players sprint
Up the field and down.
They pass and lunge and shout with skill
To win the champion's crown.

The Girls' Athletic Association

The year of 1959 marked the successful debut of the Pittsfield High School Girls' Athletic Association, an organization designed to help promote good sportsmanship and school spirit among the students at P. H. S. Under the competent direction of its advisor, Miss McNaughton, the G. A. A. offered to its members a variety of activities not normally available within an athletic program.

THE TEAM

The P.H.S. football season was marked by many innovations in 1958. Among these were the appearance of new faces in both the coaching staff and varsity ranks and a renovation of offensive strategy.

Coaches "Chuck" De Leo and Lloyd Hill, backfield and line mentors respectively, along with J.V. Coach Brennan, added spark to the pigskin scene; while newcomers Charlie Hinckley, Jim Bridges, "Chip" Hart, George Garivaltis, and Dave Giddings filled vacancies left by last year's graduates. Also worthy of commendation for their spirited play in a season marred by ill luck and a record which was not indicative of the team's potential were veterans Tom Giddings, Bill Eramo, Fred Plouffe, Jeff Burns, Ed O'Hearn, Phil Balmer, and All-Berkshire selectee, Jack O'Gara.

Basketball

In keeping with the tradition set in other years, P.H.S. produced another fine basketball team in 1959. Led by Captain Fred Cox, the team functioned smoothly, compiling a 15 win — 2 loss record. As this yearbook went to press, Coach Moynihan's boys had received their bid to the Western Massachusetts Tournament in Springfield. We have every reason to be proud of this team that had not only a strong first five but a bench rich in talent that saw frequent service.

The Ski Team

The 1959 P.H.S. Ski team, under their new leader, Coach Benedetti, former Drury High Coach, opened the season auspiciously by defeating Drury in a cross-country and downhill meet held at the State Forest. Then the rains came and cancelled out three consecutive dual meets and the Berkshire Interscholastic Meet. Later, however, under the auspices of the Winter Sports Committee the boys competed in the New England Meet at North Conway, New Hampshire, where they made a very good showing.

P.H.S. Puck Pushers

Surface records do not always tell the story, and the true facts on which judgment should be passed do not always appear. Throughout the season, Coach Blowe's boys have faced area teams which play and practice hockey as their major winter sport. In our case, the pond-like conditions of the rink at the rear of P.H.S. have minimized practice opportunities this year. The Blowe Boys, however, making do with what they had, have developed into a good unit and have put up a strong fight in each game, upholding the P.H.S. tradition of sportsmanship. A tip of the hat goes to Coach Blowe and his team!

"So I said . . ."

Class History '59

The class of '59 had nothing to distinguish it from any other class in the history of Pittsfield High School the day we entered the school for the first time that memorable morning of September, 1956. We were an average group of boys and girls, obviously dressed with care and thorough planning to make a proper impression on the haughty juniors and dignified seniors. Six hundred strong, we congregated in the auditorium for home room assignments and class schedules.

For a couple of weeks, a lost and found department or a herd of St. Bernard dogs would have done a rushing business rescuing the wandering Sophomores. Pride kept us from asking our way as we stumbled and fumbled along, surreptitiously glancing at room doors and finally figuring out the number system.

After the election of home room representatives, we gained a feeling of prestige when members of our class were chosen for various duties within the Student Council. We acquired a background for all our other activities by participating in many social, governmental, and scholastic school organizations. Our class gave its wholehearted support to such school activities as sending the band to Washington, D.C., to compete in the Cherry Blossom Festival and torturing our muscles for hours on end to participate in the biennial Gym Exhibition. Our boys began to show their athletic abilities by working out with the teams and developing their future leadership.

"It's not a diamond, but . . ."

When June rolled around, we advanced to the distinguished status of Juniors. Now we would have an opportunity to show the faculty and student body just what the class of '59 was capable of doing.

Overnight our social standing had changed. No longer did everyone look down upon us. Suddenly there was a class below us, and the burden of insignificance had shifted to them. Joyfully we looked forward to a wonderful year—and wonderful it was!

Everything we did, we did wholeheartedly, whether working on our prize-winning Student's Pen, or trying out for cheerleading. There was no mistaking the Jay-Vee aspirants—they all limped, groaned, and vowed that they would never be able to walk upright again. Nine happy girls were finally chosen and took over part of the responsibility of leading the student body in cheers.

A Pep Club was organized under the direction of the cheerleaders and furnished enthusiastic support at our games.

Remember the elections? For most of us it was the first time in a voting booth, and there was a wild impulse to pull down the first lever and flee!

Although the organization of our class got off to a slow start, wonders were accomplished once we got rolling. Committees and councils seemed to spring up spontaneously on every side, and many of us had an opportunity to take up the reins of student government.

Sayonara or Aloha?

Typical sophisticated senior.

"It's just got to be here!"

Santa's little helpers.

Our Christmas pageant—"The Three Thieves"

The Taming of the Shrew in Western style was a highlight of the year. Shakespeare might not have recognized his creation if he had seen our version, but he most certainly would have enjoyed it. Made possible through the imagination of Mr. Boland, it was a great success.

A group of excited Juniors could always be found crowding about the ring display in the lobby. Upon the arrival of our rings, hands were waved proudly and conspicuously so that every student could see the beautiful golden-domed symbols of belonging.

As the problems and decisions of our junior year drew near, we all looked with starry eyes toward our very own Junior Prom. The gym was beautifully decorated in the theme of "Sayonara." During the after prom party we realized that the evening was rapidly becoming a cherished memory.

Yes, junior year was a time of achievement, and the fond memories we gained will always remain with us. But as we watched the Seniors, in caps and gowns, perform the tree-planting ceremony on Class Day, we turned our thoughts to our own senior year, which was almost upon us. In this one last year at P.H.S., we would have to gather the material that would help us build a foundation for life, whether we went on to college, acquired a job, or married. The solemnity of the coming year was very real to us, and as we were brought face to face with the future, we vowed to make our senior year as profitable as possible so that when we received our diplomas, nothing would mar our feeling of accomplishment. In this spirit we became Seniors.

Our first enterprise was the election of class officers, an event preceded by much campaigning. Students were seen in the halls with long strings of gaily-colored campaign tags, and momentarily bitter disputes of a candidate's qualifications were heard wherever Seniors congregated.

Although the football team did not quite live up to our expectations, the spirit of P.H.S. students was always high as clearly indicated by our successful rallies, which were so well attended that the entire student body could not be accommodated in the auditorium at one time.

The advent of the basketball season was marked by the appointment of Coach Moynihan. Under his directions our mainly inexperienced but determined team made good use of its height and continued its winning streak of previous years. Anxious to keep up the morale of our team, students in buses and private cars plowed through snow to attend our away games.

At Christmas time the lobby was decorated by happy seniors. At the annual Christmas program, the audience watched an original play, written and directed by Mr. Boland, and then joined in singing carols.

In February the long and short of things were duly found out from the measurements taken by the Cap and Gown Committee. Suddenly we all realized that Commencement activities were just a few short months away.

Early in April the band made a second trip to Washington to participate in the Cherry Blossom Festival. The wonderful tour was made possible by the success of numerous fund-raising projects sponsored by band members with the cooperation and support of the faculty and student body. Who will ever forget "Show Boat"?

And then it was Class Day. Many of our group demonstrated their talents in several skits and acts. Solemnity fell over the audience as the senior officers handed the responsibility of student government to the Juniors in the traditional candlelight ceremony. Then we filed out of the auditorium and planted the pine tree that would be a lasting symbol of the class of '59.

Our Senior Class banquet began an evening of festivities which lasted to the wee hours of the morning. The gym was beautifully decorated and couples—the girls in dreamy gowns and boys in the smart white dinner jackets—danced to the romantic strains of the orchestra.

In a fever of rehearsing, graduation drew ever nearer. At last Sunday, June 14, arrived, and for once we all sat quietly and subdued in rows before our beloved school, our faces grave above the purple and white robes as we awaited our turn to receive the diplomas from the mayor.

Graduation is over and the class of '59 has become a part of history. As we look back with pleasant memories, and look forward with hope, faith, and love in our hearts, we say farewell to Pittsfield High School.

And, boy, did I tell him!

"To live in hearts we leave behind,
Is not to die."

Class Poem

KAREN CANFIELD, '59

Our days left in these halls are few
And time keeps running on.
Soon we will scatter far and wide,
Our old friends will be gone;
But underneath the stately dome
Life still will be the same,
And memories of days gone by
Shine through an ivy frame.
Commencement day at last is here
And we can proudly say
That we've worked hard to earn the right
To graduate today.
Diplomas in our hands, we bow
Our heads in silent prayer
And hope the life that comes to us
Is good, and free from care.
To all the problems of this world
We now must lay our hand;
Uphold the right, succor the poor
And heed the law's command.
No longer children can we be;
To play the adult's role
Is what the world expects of us,
And we must pay life's toll.
The future lights the shining path,
And we shall gain success,
If we will do the best we can
Not yielding to distress.
For life will show us what we are.
Her radiant promise lights
A time when all the world upholds
God-given human rights.
Yes, three years we have spent within
These walls, so proud and strong;
Now we must leave this friendly place
To join life's teeming throng.
But always in our hearts we'll keep
A glowing memory
Of days untroubled by despair,
Of days when we were free.

"Take an Older Sister's Advice..."

"IT'S SMART to line up job interviews well in advance of graduation. And one of the best places I know to contact is the Telephone Company. Several of us from my graduating class are working here — and every one of us loves it."

Telephone jobs are important ones. We have our own training program which you can enter without any previous job experience. The pay is good, and you'll get regular raises.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate. Ask the Guidance Counselor at your school to tell you when and where to apply.

LETTERS MAKE YOUR WORLD GO ROUND

You like to get letters. Everyone does. And familiar handwriting on the envelope makes you eager to open it. You want to know how Jane is enjoying her trip to the Coast, that was her graduation present. Or how George is doing in his new job.

Letters make your world go round and round. The more letters you write, the more you will get. So it is good to keep your hand in practice.

Good paper makes this practice a pleasure. Its fine texture invites pen or typewriter. Words flow with the ease of conversation. And its handsome appearance reflects your good taste.

In Crane's Fine Papers this pleasure and good taste are happily combined.

We'd like to wax poetic,
but poems are not our forte . . .

We'd like to give a rousing cheer,
but none would hear, we fear . . .

We'd like to dedicate a song, or make a speech or two . . .

Or blow a trumpet, beat the drums,
and fly the flag for you!

But all these things are better left to other greater talents

While we at England's show our praise in surer, more familiar ways . . .

Like always stocking things you want,
new items, fads and fashions . . .

For college, business and career,
and for your home some future year!

Your parents and their parents too, depended upon England's . . .

For clothes and couches, combs and cribs, books and bonnets, beds and bibs . . .

We've served them honestly and well,
a century and more

And graduates, we're here to tell, we'll serve you ever more!
